

UNION TRUST BANK GETS THE NEW BONDS

JOHN A. STEWART, PRESIDENT, GETS THE BID.

The Securities Were Awarded to Him at $117.077 and His Competition for Them Included a Syndicate of Bankers From All Parts of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—John A. Stewart, president of the Union Trust Company, New York, got the new five per cent bonds at $117.077. It was in conformity with his circular dated Nov. 13, 1894, the secretary of the treasury to day opened the bids which had been submitted for a new issue of $50,000,000 United States 5 per cent bonds to bear date of Nov. 1, 1894, and be redeemable in coin at the pleasure of the government after ten years from the date of issue. This action of the secretary is taken under the authority contained in the act of congress approved Jan. 14, 1875, entitled "An act to provide for the redemption of specie payments." The main bid was made by a syndicate of bankers of New York, London, Philadelphia and Boston, and was for $50,000,000 at $116.8898. The bidders included the Drexel, Morgan company, United States Trust company of New York, and the large New York bankers. Secretary Carlisle shortly after noon held a conference with the treasury officials for the purpose of deciding whether the bond proposals should be opened in public or private. At 12:45 o'clock a large delegation of bankers and representatives of the press assembled in Assistant Secretary Curtis' office to hear the bids announced. In the corridor outside was a large gathering of correspondents who could not, owing to the limited capacity of the room, be admitted. Among the bidders present were J. Pierpont Morgan, of Drexel, Morgan & Co., bankers, of New York; Robert Bacon, of E. Rollins, Morse & Co., bankers, Boston; Albert Steinhilber, broker, New York; F. W. Reinick, with Kidder, Peabody & Co., bankers, Boston; Pliny Fisk, of Harvey, Fisk & Co., bankers, New York.

WARD AGAIN A CITIZEN.

Gen. Flower Puts the Ex-Convict in Possession of Necessary Papers.

GENESEO, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Ferdinand Ward has received from Gov. Flower the letters restoring to him full rights as a citizen. Mr. Ward will at once institute legal proceedings for the possession of his son, whom he claims is wrongfully withheld by an irregularly appointed guardian. He will also bring an action against the Franklin Trust company for the recovery of certain collaterals which, it is claimed, are illegally held by that company. Mr. Ward now holds a responsible position in the office of the surrogate of Livingston county at Geneseo.

To Talk of Affairs in the West.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 26.—To-day the seventh annual meeting of the Trans-Mississippi congress will be called to order at Entertainment hall, Exposition building. Daily sessions will be held, ending Friday. The purpose is thoughtfully to discuss all matters in which the western states and territories are directly interested, and pave the way for legislation in the national congress. It is expected that Thursday's day and night sessions will be devoted to entertainment by the citizens of St. Louis.

Three Killed on a Bridge.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 26.—An accident, resulting in the death of three persons, occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at South Branch bridge, about eighteen miles east of this city, yesterday morning. The party were on their way to church and were run into by a fast train. All were dead when found and badly mangled. They were all prominent in the neighborhood.

To Stand by Anti-Revolutionary Bill.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—It is semi-officially announced that the anti-revolutionary bill, to the exclusion of all other bills, will be laid before the imperial diet Dec. 5. This has raised much complaint. It is argued that the government expects rejection of the bill and is determined in that event to dissolve the diet.

Caught the Forger.

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 26.—Robert E. Harvey, one of the cleverest criminals in the country, whom bank officials declare to be the most dangerous forger that has operated in years, was captured here Saturday night by Detective Seville of Pinkerton's Philadelphia agency and Chief of Police Sanford of this city.

Settled by Arbitration.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The strike of the shirtmakers is practically over. The acceptance by the shirtmaker of the 10 per cent reduction, as arranged by arbitration has resulted in the amicable adjustment of matters. Nearly all the strikers will return to work.

He Will Propose Arbitration.

GUATEMALA, Nov. 26.—Minister de Lome expects to convince the Mexican government of the justice of Guatemala's claim. If he fails he will propose arbitration by any power that may be selected by Mexico.

FIRES ON MARSHALS.

Two Men Fatally Shot in an Alabama Mine and Another Badly Hurt.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 26.—Saturday was pay day at Brookside mines, and Deputy United States Marshals A. T. Woods and A. P. McClelland went out last night to arrest a number of men who sell liquor without a license at the mines at these times. They had arrested four men and with Mine Superintendent Culverhouse lay in wait at the commissary door to get the others. They moved off for a moment to the inside of the house and their places in the doorway were taken by others. Just at this time a volley of shots was fired with the following result: Stable Boss Laurie McDonald, fatally injured; Storekeeper Thomas Stewart, shot in the temple, may die; a miner named Jim Dantz, shot in the forehead. It is supposed the shots were intended for the deputy marshals.

ROB AN ERIE STATION AGENT.

Two Men Take All the Cash and Tie Their Victim to Prevent Pursuit.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Nov. 26.—Two men entered the Erie station here shortly before noon yesterday, shoved a revolver in the agent's face, bound him, robbed the cash drawer and escaped. The work was done in five minutes and before the agent could untie himself the robbers were out of sight. The constable was put on their trail and the Erie officials notified. The thieves got less than $50.

Yale Defeats Harvard.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 26.—Yale's football team defeated Harvard Saturday by a score of 12 to 4. The game is said to be the roughest these teams have played and there is a possibility that Yale may be prevented from playing with Princeton by the action of the faculty. One of the professors said last night the faculty would probably take some definite action in the matter, as the roughness of the play at Springfield has set some of the members of the faculty decidedly against any more football by Yale. There is also a strong belief that the Yale-Harvard freshmen game will be prevented.

Fierce Fight at a Church Door.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 26.—A battle occurred at a church near Carrollton, Miss., yesterday between officers and a murderer, and as a result one man is dead and two others wounded. Deputy sheriffs attempted to arrest Claude Moss, charged with murder at Monticello, Drew county, Ark. He had been a fugitive from justice more than a year. He resisted arrest and was killed. Intense excitement prevailed at the church and scores of women fainted.

Young Girl Abducted.

PANA, Ill., Nov. 26.—Anna Whitesides, the 9-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ella Whitesides, was kidnapped, supposedly while going home from school. Three years ago Mrs. Whitesides was divorced from her husband, John Whitesides. He left town and has not been seen since then. The mother was given custody of the girl, however, and the police, who are at work on the case are of the opinion that Whitesides returned to Pana and took the child.

Reward for the Capture of Cook.

SOUTH McALLISTER, I. T., Nov. 26.—The citizens of Muskogee have offered a reward of $1,500 for the arrest of Bill Cook and his gang of outlaws. While troops are not needed and could not be used, the people of the Creek nation feel the government should hunt the robbers down, and as an inducement to the United States marshals and Indian police have offered the reward.

Booth Killed and Bickford Hurt.

HASTINGS, Iowa, Nov. 26.—As a result of a general drunk and careless handling of a revolver early yesterday morning Phil Booth was killed and Charles Bickford seriously hurt by Albert Bowen. The men were drinking at a livery stable and Bowen was struck by a bullet and died an hour later. Bickford was struck in the knee. Bowen escaped. All three were farmers.

Leaves His Estate to Relatives.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 26.—The will of Thomas D. Gilbert, who died Sunday, has been filed for probate. His estate is estimated at $500,000. The only public bequest is $5,000 for the Union Benevolent association, of which he was president. He leaves the rest to immediate relatives, remembering about thirty nieces and nephews.

VARZIN, Nov. 26.—Princess Bismarck, who has been indisposed for some time, has grown worse, and Dr. Schweninger has been summoned to attend her.

BIG MAN MISSING FROM OELWEIN, IA.

WALTER H. BUTLER HAS DISAPPEARED MYSTERIOUSLY.

He Was President of the Oelwein Normal College and Has Not Been Heard From Since He Started For Watertown, on Thursday. General Northwestern News.

OELWEIN, Iowa, Nov. 26.—The sudden disappearance of Walter H. Butler, ex-congressman and president and business manager of Oelwein Normal college last Thursday is the reigning sensation in northeastern Iowa. He became president of the college this fall and opened the winter term the day before he disappeared. He was upon the college grounds as usual all day Thursday and things moved along nicely until 2:30 p. m., when he complained of being ill and left the college. A feature is that he received that day all money for tuition from students. He went direct from the college to the Chicago Great Western depot, where he purchased a ticket for Fairbank, a small station east. The conductor of the train on which he departed was questioned. He said a man answering Mr. Butler's description had gone to Waterloo, giving the train conductor a silver dollar and not using his ticket. Many are the rumors current, and fears for Mr. Butler's safety are entertained by his friends. His circumstances in life were excellent. His wife and son at West Union can not account for the disappearance.

COURTS AN INVESTIGATION.

Winters Calls Upon His Successor to Look Into Iron Hall Affairs.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 26.—The severe criticism by a local newspaper respecting the allowances made by Judge Winters, implying extravagance and mismanagement in the Iron Hall receivership, has called out an open letter from Winters to Judge McMassters, his successor on the bench. The newspaper in question particularly has denounced the allowance made by the court to Receiver Falley of $50,000 and $30,000 to one law firm for services rendered in the settlement of the trust, and characterized it as a scandal that the courts should investigate and correct. In his letter ex-Judge Winters calls upon Judge McMassters to thoroughly investigate the charges.

After the Brotherhood Headquarters.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 26.—The executive board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen heard a delegation from Rochester, N. Y., in regard to the removal of the headquarters offices. L. S. Coffin spoke for Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Grand Master Sargent for Terre Haute. The board probably will visit Cleveland and Peoria before arriving at a decision.

Whitcaps Active in Missouri.

ELDORADO SPRINGS, Mo., Nov. 26.—The home of James Tennis and wife, east of this place, was visited Friday night by a mob of masked men and Tennis and wife were severely whipped. Mrs. Tennis was severely injured. Bad blood has existed in the neighborhood, caused by a lawsuit in which Tennis was accused of egging a preacher.

Forest Fires Caused by Drought.

MASCOUAT, Ill., Nov. 26.—The drought which set in two months ago remains unbroken and the scarcity of water is becoming a serious matter throughout this section. During the last week forest fires have raged daily in the Kaskaskia and Silver Creek bottoms and incalculable damage has been done to timber and other property.

All Detroit Schools Closed.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 26.—Owing to the spread of diphtheria throughout the city the board of health has ordered the closing of every public school in the city until the epidemic abates.

Place Wreaths on Their Graves.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—The twenty-seventh anniversary of the hanging of the Manchester martyrs, Allen, Larkin and O'Brien was celebrated here yesterday. Five thousand persons accompanied by many bands marched to Glasnevin cemetery and placed wreaths upon the monument erected to the memory of the martyrs. A number of addresses were made.

Bank Robbed of $354,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Samuel C. Seeley, an assistant bookkeeper in the National Shoe and Leather bank, has disappeared with $354,000 of the bank's money. Seeley was aided by a confederate who is thought to be a depositor. According to Vice-President Pease, Seeley has been fleeing the bank for some time past.

Denounces Archbishop Ireland.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Bishop McQuaid at the Roman Catholic cathedral in this city preached a sensational sermon yesterday in which he denounced the action of Archbishop Ireland in coming to this state and taking part in the last political campaign.

Miss Stevenson Improving.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 26.—Miss Stevenson passed a restful day yesterday and is slightly improved.

TURKEY BARS OUT AMERICAN PAPERS

DIDN'T LIKE TALK ABOUT ARMENIAN BUTCHERIES.

Hereafter No Journals From The United States Can Enter the Country—Government Deny the Accuracy of the Reports as Published Insisting that They Did Right.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 26.—[Special]—All American newspapers have been prohibited from entering Turkey. CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 26.—In Turkish government circles it is asserted the action of the Armenian delegation in attempting to protest against the conduct of the Turks in the Sassoun massacre is unwarranted and Turkey has always carried out the stipulations of the Berlin treaty. The Porte denies the accuracy of the reports published in English newspapers and insists that their troops only intervened when it became absolutely necessary for the purpose of restoring order.

REPORT ON THE MAILS.

Postmaster-General Bissell Desires Reform and Economy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Postmaster-General W. S. Bissell has submitted to President his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1894. He briefly outlines the policy of the department in the following:

"In general I would recommend that the first and most important thing to be done is to revise the law as to second class matter, so as to place the postoffice department immediately upon a self-sustaining basis.

"2. Avoid expensive experiments, like the postal telegraph, rural free delivery, etc.

"3. Develop the postal service on existing lines of administration—viz.: Extend free delivery in cities that now enjoy it. Accord it towns already entitled to it under the law; and quicken railroad transportation.

"4. Revise and reclassify organization of the railways mail service and reclassify clerks in postoffices.

"5. Provide for district supervision of all postal affairs by expert postal officials from the classified service, as recommended in my last annual report."

The revenue for the year was $75,080,479; expenditures, $84,324,414; leaving a deficiency of $9,243,935. The estimates for the current year ending June 30, 1895, are: Revenue, $84,427,748; expenditures, $90,399,455; deficiency, $5,971,737. The estimates submitted to the secretary of the treasury for the next fiscal year are: Revenue, $86,907,407; expenditures, $91,059,283; deficiency, $4,151,876.

This annual deficiency, the postmaster-general says, could be overcome by the increase of postal rates, but he does not believe this advisable. Mr. Bissell recommends that the experimental free delivery projects should be discontinued, and thinks free delivery in rural districts is not needed or desired by people.

One of the most important and interesting features of Mr. Bissell's report is its discussion of class matter. In his last report he referred to the great disproportion of the growth of second class mail matter. He does not advocate a change of rates now upon legitimate newspapers and periodical magazines, but his purpose is to urge the withdrawal of low postage rates from the large cities and the pretended periodicals that are now improperly enjoying them.

The postmaster-general says he thoroughly believes in civil service in the postoffice department.

Mr. Bissell refers to the bill now pending to relieve the postmaster-general of the responsibility of postoffice appointments. Commenting upon this bill, he says: "Whether such a plan is or is not the best that can be devised, it is at least the formulation of a plan which is entitled to the most earnest, careful and immediate consideration, and may become a foundation upon which to build. What is earnestly desired and what daily appears more of a necessity is legislation of some kind which will insure an improvement upon present methods."

Thousands After Gold.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., Nov. 26.—Excitement over the wonderful find of gold at Lone mountain, twenty miles from here, is unabated. Ten thousand people are on the grounds. Five thousand dollars was taken out late yesterday. This makes $50,000 in all. John McCampbell on whose ground the find is located, has called on Gov. Torney for protection.

Fatally Hurt Defending a Daughter.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Nov. 26.—Elmer Stout, aged 17, attempted to assault a daughter of J. L. Keith, a farmer living east of here, as she was on her way to school. Mr. Keith saw him and ran to his daughter's rescue, but was himself knocked down, kicked and beaten into insensibility. Mr. Keith is nearly 70 years old and will die from his injuries.

No Pleuro-Pneumonia in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 26.—The state board of health has looked thoroughly into the report from England that pleuro-pneumonia had been found among cattle from Kentucky, and the board declares the report must be a mistake as investigation shows there is no pleuro-pneumonia in Kentucky and there has been none.

BIG SHIP INDIANA IS MISEING.

Two Hundred and Ten People Are Aboard the Boat.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 26.—The American liner Indiana, Capt. Townsend, from Liverpool and Queenstown, for this port, with a crew of seventy men and 140 steerage passengers, has not yet turned up, and is now almost six days overdue.

The uneasiness felt for the ship was in no way lessened by a report made by Capt. Hunter of the British steamship Calvin, which reached Girard Point yesterday.

Capt. Hunter says that the 20th inst., while weathering a terrific gale, they observed on the crest of the waves a peculiar white object which closer observation disclosed to be the part of a passenger vessel's life raft.

Capt. Hunter is confident that it came from a passenger ship that had met with recent disaster. Pilot Schellinger says the raft described by Capt. Hunter closely resembles those carried by the American line boats. Close to the raft was floating a wooden buoy.

The Calvin met with terrific gales from the 15th to the 20th instants and damaged her steam steering gear. The Red Star steamer Pennsylvania, from Antwerp, is also five days overdue. But Capt. Smith of the White Star Britannic, arrived at New York Saturday, reports passing her the 20th instant in latitude 41 degrees, longitude 41 degrees, apparently all well.

The British steamship Robinia, from Antwerp, is also over due.

RHYNLAND'S ENGINES BREAK DOWN

Oil Poured on the Tempestuous Waves—Passengers Greatly Alarmed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Red Star steamer Rhymland, commanded by Capt. Mills, which arrived from Antwerp yesterday morning, passed through some of the roughest weather it has encountered in many years. To make matters worse there was something wrong with the engines, and it looked for a while as if the Rhymland would have to attempt to reach the nearest port under sail. The engines were stopped for three hours. Capt. Mills ordered oil barrels to be brought and poured a steady stream of oil over the weather side of the ship as it lay in the trough of the sea. The use of the oil without doubt saved the vessel from great damage. During the worst part of the gale one of the seamen was washed along the deck for a distance of fifty feet and dashed against the bulwarks. No passengers were injured.

Sure That the Ivanhoe Is Lost.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 26.—The wreckage reported ashore on the northwestern end of Vancouver island is that of the ill-fated Ivanhoe, and when the steamer Mischief returns it is more than probable Capt. Foote, her master, will have definite news of the fate of this long-missing vessel.

Lucania Is Delayed by a Storm.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—It took the Cunard steamer Lucania a day and a half more than the customary time to make this port on its latest trip. The reason of the detention at sea was tempestuous weather. It was about the worst voyage the Lucania ever had.

TRAIN ROBBERS FOILED.

Kansas & Arkansas Valley Train Warned by a Woman.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 26.—A plan to hold up the east-bound train on the Kansas & Arkansas Valley road by the Cook gang Friday night was discovered and frustrated by the railroad officials. When the train reached a siding near Fort Gibson it was flagged by a woman who had run five miles to warn them of a hold-up, which had been planned. Twenty-five armed men had taken possession of a section house. The wife of the section boss eluded the watchfulness of the gang and resolved to save the train. She ran to the next station and gave the alarm. Armed men were placed on board and the train pulled slowly by the section house, where the bandits were concealed, but no attempt was made to hold up the train. The bandits discovered that their plans were known.

CZAR AND PRINCESS WERE WED TODAY

CEREMONY WAS PERFORMED AT ST. PETERSBURG.

The Services Were Very Impressive—Count Oyma Tells How the Great Feast of Taking Port Arthur Was Accomplished—Italian Peasants Rebel Against a Tax Levy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—[Special]—Czar Nicholas was married this afternoon to Princess Alix, the ceremony being impressive.

HOW PORT ARTHUR WAS TAKEN

Battle Was a Notable One and the Japanese Fought Nobly

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Hiroshima, Japan, giving the report of Field Marshal Count Oyama, whose army captured Port Arthur. The report says:

"The second army began the attack on the landward forts at Port Arthur at dawn, Nov. 21. The Chinese offered a very strong resistance until finally we seized the fort to the west of the cavalry and artillery parade grounds at 8:30 o'clock. We took the fort on Golden Hill at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Nov. 22. All the other forts were taken. Over 200 Japanese officers and men were killed or wounded. The Chinese loss and the number of wounded is still unknown. The spoils are abundant, and include a specially large number of large guns and a quantity of ammunition. The Chinese garrison at the lowest estimate was 20,000 men."

The Japanese infantry advanced against a well directed fire without faltering. Shortly before 9 o'clock the fort was carried by storm in a most gallant fashion. The Chinese stood for a minute or two against the final onslaught, fighting fiercely. Then they fled toward the dockyard.

The right division then advanced in force against the Kokisan fort, which was armed with several heavy Krupp guns which were well served. Scores of men were killed or wounded in this brief advance. The fort was strengthened by trenches and loop holed mud walls, but all were carried without difficulty. At noon the fort itself was stormed and captured after a short but desperate fight.

By 3 o'clock in the afternoon the right division was in full possession of the western part of the stronghold.

The Japanese artillery and the Chinese guns in the fort kept up a steady fire. The latter were all heavy pieces and they pounded away for some time at the Japanese infantry, who in the meantime were advancing all along the line, taking skillful advantage of the brushwood and other cover.

The first assault was splendidly delivered, the enemy being driven headlong from the works after making a gallant stand. By evening Port Arthur was in possession of the Japanese, but the enemy still had some eight or ten redoubts, with a total of about twenty guns on the coast line. The Japanese bivouacked on the hills and captured forts.

Early Thursday morning Lao Ma and the upper forts were attacked in succession, all being captured without serious loss on the Japanese side. It is estimated the Chinese loss was over 1,000 killed and wounded. Several thousand were taken prisoners.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 26.—Chinese officials are telegraphing notices broadcast saying the reports of the downfall of Port Arthur are falsehoods. The place, they say, is defended by 30,000 brave soldiers.

PEASANTS OBJECT TO DUTIES.

Riot in the Town of Alatri Near Rome—Military Called Out.

ROME, Nov. 26.—The town of Alatri, in the province of Rome, was the scene yesterday of a riot similar to the one that occurred at Rota and growing out of the same cause, the imposition of octroi duties. A mob numbering 600 persons, mostly peasants and including many women, attacked the mayor's residence with stones. The police were powerless to quell the riot, and it was necessary to call out the military before order could be restored.

GENOA, Nov. 26.—A riot occurred yesterday at Rota, a town of 500 inhabitants. The trouble had its origin in the application of the octroi duties, the tax imposed on provisions, etc., brought into the town. The riot was finally quelled, but not until three of the octroi offices had been destroyed. Eight of the leaders of the disturbance were arrested.

ITALY NOW MAY FIGHT.

Fleet to Be Sent Against Brazil to Compel Action.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—Italy has decided to send a fleet against this country, it is learned, on account of Brazil's refusal to arbitrate a pending question.

Though the action of the government in the case is universally approved here, President Moraes will prepare the propositions and forward them to the Italian government. The United States may be asked to arbitrate.

Part of Brazil's fleet left yesterday with sealed orders. It is rumored that the warships have been after Da Gama, who now commands 8,000 men. The monarchists, report says, propose rising all over the country. It is feared that the government will be unable to cope with them.

TESTED IN BATTLE WAS GEN. T. H. RUGER

HIS WAR RECORD WAS A BRILLIANT ONE.

Former Janesville Man Took Charge of the Department of the Missouri at Chicago Saturday, the Ceremony Being Entirely Informal and Without Any Military Show.

General Thomas H. Ruger took command of the Department of the Missouri of the United States Army Saturday morning and was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Captain Charles D. Lyman, aid-de-camp. The party registered at the Auditorium, and about noon General Ruger strolled down to department headquarters and notified Colonel James P. Martin, Adjutant General, of his presence. Colonel Martin speedily informed the staff officers in the building and they in a body were presented to their new commander. There was no formality about the presentation. General Ruger was in civilian attire and the officers of the department staff came in just as they were, some dressed in fatigue uniforms and others in civilian dress.

His War Record.

While most Janesville people are familiar with General Ruger's personal history, comparatively few know his complete war record. When the war broke out Governor Randall appointed him engineer-in-chief to organize the state troops. He was offered a commission as colonel but refused until the Third regiment went to the front and then he took command. The syllabus of his movements while he held this rank is as follows: Prevented the assembling of a rebel legislature at Frederick, Md., September, 1861; movement to Harrisburg, Va., 1862; battle of Winchester, May 25, 1862; retreat to Williamsport, Md., May, 1862; advance to Little Washington, Va., July, 1862; Northern Virginia campaign, August and September, 1862, including battle of Cedar Mountain, August 9, 1862; Maryland campaign with Army of the Potomac, September to November, 1862, including battle of Antietam, September 17, 1862; march to Falmouth, Va., October to November, 1862.

Made a General in 1891

Colonel Ruger was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers November 29, 1891, after which his movements were as follows: In command of a brigade of the Twelfth Corps, Army of the Potomac, in Rappahannock campaign, December, 1892, in June, 1893, including the battle of Chancellorsville, May 2 to 4, 1863; in the Pennsylvania campaign, Army of the Potomac, June to August, 1863, including the battle of Gettysburg, July 1 to 3, in which he commanded a division; march to Warrenton, Va., July, 1863; suppressing draft riots in New York City, August to September, 1863; at Tallahoma, Tenn., guarding the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad, October, 1863, to April 1864; in command of brigade of the Twentieth corps in the invasion of Georgia, May 4 to Nov. 3, 1864, and battle of Resaca, May 15, 1864; battle of New Hope Church May 25, 1864; battle at Kulp House June 22, 1864; battle of Peach Tree Creek July 20, 1864; numerous skirmishes on the march May to July, 1864; siege of Atlanta July 22 to Sept. 2, 1864; occupation of Atlanta Sept. 2 to Nov. 8, 1864; in command of Twenty-third Corps in the Tennessee campaign against the rebel army of Gen. Hood Nov. 15 to Dec. 8, 1864, and operations about Columbia November, 1864; battle of Franklin Nov. 30, 1864.

Services After the War.

Gen. Ruger was promoted to Brevet Major-General of Volunteers Nov. 30, 1864, for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Franklin, after which his services were as follows: Organized the first division of the Twenty-third Corps at Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 8, 1864 to January, 1865; commanded his division in operations in North Carolina, February to June, 1865, including the movement up the Neuse river, February to March, 1865; action at Weir's Fork, near Kinston, March 10, 1865; surrender of the army of General Joseph E. Johnson, April 26, 1865; in garrison at Charlotte, May and June, 1865; in command of department of North Carolina, June 27, 1865, to June 12, 1866.

General Ruger was mustered out of the service September 1, 1866, and reappointed in the United States army, with the rank of Colonel of Thirty-third Infantry, July 28, 1866. He commanded his regiment at Mason, Ga., from November, 1866 to February 7, 1867, and commanded the District of Chattanooga, Tenn., from Feb. 7 to March 16, 1867. He was made Brevet Brigadier-General of the United States army for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Gettysburg, Pa., March 2, 1867. He then commanded his regiment at Atlanta, Ga., until Aug. 19, 1870; was a member of the Retiring Board until Jan. 3 1871; commanded his regiment at Atlanta until August 1, 1871; was Superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point from September 1, 1871, to September 1, 1876; commanded the Department of the South from September 8, 1876 to July 1, 1878; commanded the Post of Atlanta, July 1, 1878, to April 12, 1879; enroute to Montana to May 9, 1879; in command of regiment and District of Montana at Fort Assiniboine to October 1, 1879, and at Helena to May 13, 1885; commanded his regiment and the Infantry and Cavalry School of Application at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, June 29, 1885 to April 8, 1886.

In the meantime General Ruger had been made, March 19, 1886, a Brigadier-General of the United States Army, April 8, 1886, he was placed in command of the Department of the Missouri, and May 4 of the Department of Dakota. During the Pine Ridge Indian trouble in 1891 he made an excellent record, and was then transferred to the Department of California, from which he comes to Chicago to assume command of the Department of the Missouri.

DIRECTUM IS TAKEN FROM HICKOK

Horse That John Kelly Developed Now In James Dustin's Hands.

Directum, the champion trotting stallion of the world, who was developed by John Kelly while he was driving the Salisbury stable, will not be in Orrin Hickok's stable next year and now that Hickok's made a failure of the "black wonder" it remains to be seen if still another man bring him can up to the standard that Mr. Kelly set, for Directum has not gone a good mile since the Janesville man ceased to handle him. He is now in charge of James Dustin and is at the Oakland, California park. Directum is owned by John Green of Dublin, Cal., but his racing qualities have been leased to C. C. McIver, a wealthy vineyardist of Mission San Jose. Both Green and McIver were dissatisfied with the showing made by Directum in the east and it was decided to turn the horse over to Dustin, who will probably take him east. There is a prospect of another race between Directum and Alix, which will be trotted in California if arranged.

CRIME LAID TO FATHER AND SON

Dr. Pickens and His Boy Charged With the Briggs' Assault.

There is a sensational sequel to the case in which Dr. Flint the alleged hypnotist took a hand at Eau Claire. It will be remembered that a girl named Edna M. Briggs was lying in a comatose state and it was believed that she had been hypnotized and assaulted. Dr. Flint was called from here to pass an opinion. Dr. George Pickens and son, Asigal W. Pickens were arrested Saturday and charged with criminally assaulting the girl. This is the outcome of a case that has puzzled doctors and police authorities September. Dr. Pickens gave $1,500 bonds. His son was unable to do so. He is the young man who has been keeping company with Miss Briggs and has been suspected for some time.

Some More of the Story

But not much. We shall from day to day give you more light regarding our plans, but of this rest assured we are going to give home-seekers such opportunities as were never before offered.

East Riverview park is by long odds the best property in Janesville for the money at which you can buy a home-site there. We are going to make it so desirable that a year from today there will not be a lot for sale in that addition. In the first place, the lots every one of them are 4 by 10 rods in size or larger, and every lot has alleys behind them. Secondly, every lot has artesian water. Thirdly, the property will be better lighted than any other part of the city. April 1st, 1895, we shall again be burning in East Riverview Park twelve lights. Fourthly and not least, we shall run a line of wagons from our new house and barn on the extreme east lot of the addition to corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, every half hour at same rate as we formerly ran our "Bus". These wagons will be fine six-seat rigs that will not only be easy and comfortable, but will be beautiful to the eye. The Janesville Carriage Company promise us the first one by January 1st, when we shall start it and add to the line just as fast as the wants of the public demand. We are bound to make the East Riverview Park home sites so desirable that people will seek them, and before you know it the whole of them, forty in all, will be sold and built upon. We have a lot of plans to make this property desirable, even as old Riverview Park is desirable, and now as ever we are, yours very truly

Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

One More Day Here.

Tomorrow will be the last day Bort Bailey & Co., will occupy their present quarters, Wednesday morning they will open in their new store on the bridge, and it will be a "whirlwind". Tomorrow will be a sort of a day of jubilee. We will take our last look at the old ship which we have manned so long, but we are glad to get out. A special invitation is extended to all our customers to come and see us tomorrow whether you buy or not. Bort, Bailey & Co.

Notice.

BALTZER VERY BAD AND A BIT TRICKY

MAN WHO WAS JAILED HERE IS SMOOTH.

He Leads Sheriff Moore of Green County a Five Thousand Mile Race and Gives Officer Cochrane a Wild Goose Chase Before He Was Finally Caught.

George Baltzer, who served a sixty day term in jail here for assisting Emma Lashall, in defrauding J. M. Bostwick & Sons out of a cloak valued at $10, on the representation that they were employees of the State Institution for the Blind, seems to be a rather bad customer. It has cost Green County $1,000 and Sheriff Moore five thousand miles travel to get him for stealing a bicycle not to speak of the trouble that Constable Wallace Cochrane was put to when he was sent off on a wild goose chase. Some time last June a bicycle was stolen from a resident of Monticello and suspicion pointed strongly to Baltzer, who had been hovering around the neighborhood for some weeks prior to the disappearance of the wheel. The authorities were notified and acting upon the clue furnished, at once instituted a search for Baltzer, who was, at this time, not very much in evidence. Search was made through all the surrounding towns and villages but nothing was seen or heard of the culprit. But just at the time when the case seemed hopeless the sheriff received a message from Pipestone, Minn., stating that Baltzer was in that city. Sheriff Moore immediately started for Pipestone and arrived there just five hours after Baltzer saw fit to take his departure. But the officer kept hot on his track, following him to La Crosse, Ashland, Sioux City and Sioux Falls, and after two weeks' lost all trace of him man at Omaha.

Tramp Furnished Information.

About this time a tramp who was charged with beating a board bill was sent to the jail and one day he asked Sheriff Moore what he would give to know where Baltzer was. The sheriff said he would pay the board bill, so the prisoner showed him a letter received from Baltzer at Johnstown and he was accordingly freed. Sheriff Moore at once came to Janesville and got Officer Cochrane to search Johnstown. The officer looked into every home and up every tree in the township but found no Baltzer. Here the case rested until November 9. About that date there was a meeting of a certain society of women interested in charitable work and at this meeting the Baltzer case was one of the numerous topics discussed. Among the women was a distant relative of Baltzer and she, in an unguarded moment was led to disclose the fugitives present abode, though it required skillful "pumping" on the part of the woman friend of the sheriff to secure the coveted information. But it was learned that Baltzer was at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, not Wisconsin, and acting upon telegraph instructions from Monroe the authorities of Johnstown promptly arrested him and held him until Sheriff Moore arrived and took him in charge. Baltzer was given a hearing and bound over to the circuit court. The bicycle that figures in the case was valued at $40. The capture of the alleged thief necessitated a chase of nearly 5,000 miles and an expenditure of $1,000.

SHARP BOY PREVENTED FIRE.

H. Bump & Sons' Elevator Had a Rather Narrow Escape Saturday Night.

The grain elevator of H. Bump & Son, 104 North High street, had a narrow escape from fire Saturday night. A spark from a passing locomotive set fire to the chaff piled up between the elevator and coal shed. This was discovered by Mr. Bump's little grand son at 9 o'clock. The boy gave a "still alarm" to the west side fire station, and the blaze was extinguished without giving an alarm. The fire had just taken hold of the siding of an elevator, and in a few minutes more had it not been discovered, the first ward would have been illuminated.

BRIEF LOCAL CHIPS.

NOTED MEN TO HELP IN THE DEDICATION

CHRIST CHURCH PARISH HOUSE OPENING TOMORROW.

Prof. Ely of Madison, Professor Whitney of Beloit, Bishop Nicholson of Milwaukee, Prof. Hickman of Nashotah, and Rev. Fayette Durlin of Madison to Take Part.

An important event in the history of Christ church will be celebrated tomorrow and Wednesday and noted men will take part in it. The dedication of the new parish house, the first building of the kind to be erected in Janesville is the event in question and the parishioners naturally take a pardonable pride in the completion. It is a very pretty and commodious structure adjoining the church and opening on Wisconsin street in the rear of the rectory. The ceremonies will begin tomorrow evening and last until Wednesday evening. Among those who will help in the exercises are Bishop Nicholson, Rev. Fayette Durlin of Madison, Rev. Prof. P. H. Hickman of Nashotah Theological Seminary, Richard T. Ely, L. L. D. of Wisconsin University and Prof. H. M. Whitney of Beloit college. The program as made out shows that at 7:30 tomorrow evening there will be evening prayer and sermon by Bishop Nicholson, which will be followed by the dedication of the parish house and an informal reception at 8:30 o'clock.

Feast of Learning Follows.

Wednesday morning holy communion will be celebrated at 7:30 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock morning prayer will be followed by an address on "Reminiscences of Bishop Kemper and the Early Missionary Days," by the Rev. Fayette Durlin, pastor of Grace church of Madison. Luncheon will be served in the parish house at noon and at 2 o'clock. Professor P. H. Hickman will review Frode's "Life and Times of Erasmus;" Professor R. T. Ely's address on "The Educational Policy of the Church" will follow at 3 o'clock and at 7:45 in the evening will occur the illustrated lecture, under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. Subject: "Oxford," by Professor H. M. Whitney, of Beloit college. Tickets to the lectures will be sold for twenty-five cents and the entertainment will be worth many times that sum. The public are cordially invited by Rector A. H. Barington to attend the exercises.

More Potatoes.

Grubb Bros. are again unloading a car of fine potatoes to-day. Burbanks and Snowflakes, 60 cents a bushel in five-bushel lots; 58 cents a bushel in ten bushel lots or over.

A Clean Collar

One that you can keep clean all the time—a collar that does not wilt when you get over-heated; that does not fray on the edge, or tear out at the buttonholes, and can be cleaned by simply wiping off with a wet sponge or cloth. These collars and cuffs are made by covering linen collars or cuffs on both sides with waterproof "celluloid," thus giving strength and durability. They are the only waterproof goods so made, and every piece is stamped as follows:

Ask for this, and refuse to take any imitation if you expect satisfaction. If your dealer does not keep them, send direct to us, enclosing amount, and we will mail you sample. Collars 25 cts. each. Cuffs 50 cts. pair. State size, and whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

The Place of Torment.

Of bilious people is chiefly in the reign of the liver, but with the extreme discomfort located there are assorted sour stomach, yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, morning nausea, an unpleasant breath, turred tongue, sick headache, and irregularity of the bowels. For each and all of these unpleasantness, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a swift and agreeable remedy. It is greatly preferable to any vegetable purgative or drastic mineral cathartic. Such pseudo-specifics usually do more harm than good. In malarial complaints the liver is always involved. For such disorder, as well as for rheumatic and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a benign remedy. Physicians strongly commend it for its promptitude and thoroughness, and professional approval is fully justified by public experience during more than a third of a century.

Other United States Than Ours.

There is, of course, but one United States in our estimation, but as a matter of fact the designating title which we are in the habit of assigning to our own country alone is borne by four other nationalities. They are the United States of Mexico, which came into official being in 1824; the United States of Colombia, which succeeded New Granada in 1861; the United States of Venezuela in 1864, and the United States of Brazil, which were established in 1889.

An old man living in London, Pa., can boast of having married seven wives. His first wife lived seven years, his second wife two years, his third wife four years, his fourth wife fourteen months, his fifth wife ran away with another man five weeks after marriage, his sixth wife lived fifteen years. The last wife is still alive but the old man has the temerity to say that No. 6 is the best wife of the lot.

Probably no woman after the age of eighty can show such a record as that of Julia Smith of Glastonbury, Conn. At the age of eighty-two she had a lawsuit in her town which was decided in her favor and was then appealed by the defendant to the court of common pleas in Hartford, resulting in a long trial, the Smith sisters coming over every day, Julia being the brightest witness on the stand, in spite of her four-score years and two. At the age of eighty-four she published her translation of the bible. At the age of eighty-six she was married, making a record which easily distances the records of ordinary mortals in the eighties.

TOO ROTTEN TO BE EXHIBITED.

That Congressman J. C. Black was elected from the Tenth district of Georgia over Tom Watson by enormous frauds, is a fact which stands admitted by the democratic papers of Georgia, and even by Mr. Black himself. In Richmond county, for example, where it is conceded that there are not 10,000 voters all told, 16,000 votes were cast and Black had a plurality of 11,000. The same frauds were practiced in other counties, and were so palpable that such papers as the Macon Telegraph and Charleston News and Courier protest against the contest being carried into a republican congress, where the fraudulent methods prevailing in southern elections will be brought to light under circumstances which admit of no denial. Consequently they insist that the matter shall be settled at home. Watson proposes a commission to investigate the election and throw out the fraudulent votes. Black won't agree to this, but will submit to a new election rather than face the ordeal of an investigation by a republican congress. The republicans have no partisan interest in the matter, for both of the candidates are democrats Watson having the support of the populists. The anxiety of both parties to settle the matter without an appeal to the republican congress is natural enough. Even if they should take counsel of their discretion and fix the thing up at home the incident tells its own story. It throws a flood of light on democratic methods throughout the South and furnishes a beautiful commentary on that great democratic achievement, the repeal of the federal election laws.

WHAT THE CITY SHOULD DO.

The Gazette is accused by some of those most active in prosecuting the water company, of being in sympathy with that corporation. The accusation is too foolish to call for a denial. To avoid any further misunderstanding, however, the statement will be made that The Gazette has never favored and does not now endorse the city ownership of water works. It is idle to say that an opportunity is offered to buy a valuable plant without investing a dollar. The valuable plant has a contingent bonded liability of from $165,000 to $175,000. This liability if transferred to the city must be assumed, and sooner or later must be met. The Gazette believes and has always maintained, that gas, electric lights, street car, and water service can be better maintained and controlled by private corporations than by municipalities in the present day of ward politics.

To be sure the franchises granted by the city are valuable. Giving as they do, special privileges, they entitle the city as well as the citizens to the best service possible. That these franchises are often abused, is not a matter of doubt. Neither is there any question about the fact that the water company has been guilty of injustice; but the city is responsible for permitting these conditions to exist. The tendency of any corporation is towards abuse of privilege. The water company should have been called to account long ago, but The Gazette does not believe that it is at all necessary to buy out the plant now simply to satisfy private grievances.

The treasury's gold balance is down to $57,000,000, a reduction of $5,000,000 in the past week, and the tendency is still downward. The chances are, though, that the $58,000,000 or $59,000,000 which the $50,000,000 bonds will bring will strike the fund early enough to bring it above the $100,000,000 mark for a short time.

In their landslide of 1892 the democrats of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut elected twenty-nine Congressmen and the republicans seven. In this year's election in the same states the republicans have forty one congressmen and the democrats five. Not a democratic congressman is left in New Jersey and Connecticut.

It is a fact worth thinking about that the republican members of the next congress chosen in the south were elected by the votes of white men, while the votes of the colored element were mainly cast for the democratic candidates.

Secretary Carlisle will ask for an appropriation of $500,000 to pay the officers necessary to collect the income tax. In other words, that is the sum required to carry out the democratic project of imposing the most onerous of war taxes in a time of profound peace.

CRAZY MEN GET OUT OF THE NEW ASYLUM

TWO INSANE PATIENTS ESCAPED LAST NIGHT.

John Connell and James McCarthy Wormed Through a Small Space Between the Bars and Got Clothes that Were Taken From Them by a Clever Plan.

Although they "have a bug in their garrets," John Connell and James McCarthy were not quite as crazy as they might be. They are intelligent enough to escape from the county asylum last night even if they were sent there because they were insane. They got out by worming themselves through the bars that protect the windows. The space is apparently small enough to prevent them getting through but they succeeded. When the patients are locked up for the night they are required to give their clothes to an attendant so that if they do get out they cannot go far. Connell and McCarthy complied with this regulation and put their clothes on a settee near another window. When they got out they reached in this window; pulled the garments through and putting them on made tracks for the next township. Up to date they had not been heard from although they will be surely caught before they go very far. "Crazy people are not fools" said A. P. Aller this morning "they are a good deal smarter than people think for."

We notice in a recent number of the Gazette, over the signature of a dry goods firm that in leaving their present quarters among other things all moths were left behind. Now if there are some things more than others that are hard to get rid of they are moths. Once they gain a foothold they are sure to "bob up serenely" most any time. Any housewife who has had experience with moths knows something about them. Then imagine moths in a stock of goods, moving will not help matters, the moths will go too. In fact, it is hard to insult a moth, they have no fine feelings, but their eating propensities are immense. J. M. Boswick & Sons.

WHAT to buy and of whom to buy it becomes the all absorbing thought as the time before Christmas shortens. MR. SUTHERLAND IS NOW THE MANAGER

RECEIVER SUTHERLAND TAKES CHARGE OF THE PLANT.

Will Make No Change in the Working Force and Says that There Need Be No Alarm About the Water Being Shut Off—Mr. Maxcy Here to "See The Wreck."

Receiver George G. Sutherland, of the Janesville Water Company is now in charge of the plant, having served notices on all the employees of the company Saturday, informing them of his appointment. Receiver Sutherland will make no change in the working force but will act as the manager in carrying on the works. No fears need be entertained of any difficulty arising between the receiver and the city on account of furnishing water.

"I have instructed the superintendent and engineer to furnish pressure for fires just the same as formerly," said Mr. Sutherland this morning, "and no one need entertain any fears that it will not be furnished."

President Maxcy Talks

President Maxcy came down from Oshkosh at noon and soon after he was seen by a Gazette reporter. In answer to questions, said:

"I came down here to look over the wreck and confer with Mr. Jackman and Receiver Sutherland. I do not know that we will be able to do anything. It appears a little strange that our property is taken out of our hands in this manner, but we are satisfied, and I guess Mr. Sutherland will be able to take care of it. I have no sensation to spring, and I do not know that he will take any steps at present. The proceedings so far, are quite damaging to the credit of the Water Company. You see the appointment of a receiver naturally injures the credit of a concern. Pipe and coal dealers will be more particular in giving us quotations, of any supplies we want."

Interviewed at Oshkosh

Although Mr. Maxcy had little to say here, he said a few real peppery things concerning the Janesville trouble at Oshkosh. The Daily Times had an interview with him in which he said:

"As near as I can find out the council at Janesville has been persuaded to bring this suit by some parties who want to get hold of the water works in that city, and think that they can force us to a sale by making a cat's paw of the city. As is always the case, whether the water works are owned by a private company, or the city, the rules adopted for proper business management have caused dissatisfaction and these men, who desire to get hold of the plant, have studiously fanned all of these smouldering fires until the citizens are at a white heat and have been made to believe that they are treated outrageously. They have succeeded by one means or another in preventing the water company from getting a hearing before the citizen's committee or the council.

The City "Blindly Led," He Says.

"The means adopted to bring about the present result," continued Mr. Maxcy, "have been unmanly and unscrupulous; but before we get through with them the truth will be so plainly shown to the citizens of Janesville that they will wonder how they allowed themselves to be so blindly led into a law suit, that cannot help being long and expensive. I say 'blindly led' because I am informed that not even the mayor or the council has seen the evidence which the attorney M. G. Jeffris hired to assist in the case, claims he has in his possession against the water company. Whether he was retained because he made this claim I do not know, but it looks that way."

Mr. Maxcy also told the Times man that he has no doubt of the company's winning in the end; but would gladly avoid the expense and annoyance of the suit, if any equitable way could be found of doing so.

No Middleman Here.

The stock of jewelry, watches, diamonds, silverware, etc., that we are showing, is one of the most complete in all branches we have ever had the pleasure to show. We anticipated a big trade this fall and winter, and so far we have not been fooled. In anticipation of this fact we went direct to the manufacturer with the cash, and we were enabled to get prices which actually astonished us; that's why we sell so cheap.

We say, without fear of contradiction that we have the finest line of silver trimmed leather pocketbooks and card cases ever shown in the city, and the prices we are naming on them as well as everything we have in the house is below all others, and will remain below. F. C. Cook & Co.

Portrait of James Sutherland

State Historical Society Secures Another Picture By James Stewart

There has been added to the collection of portraits in the rooms of the Historical society a faithful portrait of Hon. James Sutherland of this city. The portrait is by James Stewart, the eminent painter who now makes Madison his home. Mr. Stewart has been very happy in the treatment of his subject and the picture is warmly commended. It is from a photograph taken in 1838 when Mr. Sutherland was a member of the state senate. For thirty-nine years. Mr. Sutherland has been a vice president of the historical society and is one of the oldest members. The books of the society show that he is also one of the most liberal members, his gifts of money having been generous. The society has also gained through many contributions of books and objects of historical interest.

THIRD PARTY OF THE SERIES

Will Be Given at the Armory By the Hokey Pokey Club.

The Hokey Pokey club will give the third of their series of dancing parties at the Armory next Friday evening. Although there is a dance for almost every night this week, it does not seem to bother the Hokey Pokey boys in the least, as they always have a large attendance at their parties and they are deserving of it too. This club will celebrate their third anniversary by giving their annual masquerade Friday evening, Jan. 4. They will endeavor to make this their grand effort, and all who attend will be assured a good time. They issue over one thousand invitations for this event.

WEDDED ON A NOVEMBER DAY

Bleasdale-France.

In far off New Zealand, October 11, there was solemnized a wedding that will be heard of with interest by many Janesville people. The ceremony took place in the cathedral at Napier, the Very Rev. the Dean of Waiapu officiating. J. Redwald Bleasdale, son of Joseph Bleasdale, of this city, was the groom, and Elizabeth Victoria, only daughter of William France, Bay View, Napier, the bride. Copies of the Hawkes Bay Herald announcing the marriage, were received by Mr. Bleasdale's Janesville friends to-day.

More Earthquakes at Messina.

ROME, Nov. 25.—There was a repetition of the earthquakes at Messina last night, one violent and two slight shocks being felt. The people were again thrown into a state of panic. There was also another shock at Reggio di Calabria, where so much damage was done by previous shocks.

France and Siam Involved.

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 25.—The Siamese government launch Phrona was waiting recently at the mouth of the Captan river for the Siamese commodore, when the French gunboat Pluiver arrested it and ordered it back. Negotiations are proceeding.

THE LEAF GROWERS SELECT NEW MEN

OFFICERS WERE SELECTED AT TODAY'S MEETING.

Henry Noyes Was Named as President, George H. Howard as Secretary, and Ezra Dillenbeck as Treasurer—Several Insurance Adjusters are Here Conferring About the Loss.

The new board of directors of the Rock County Tobacco Growers association met this morning in the O. D. Rowe warehouse, and completed their organization by electing the following officers:

President—Henry Noyes. Secretary—George H. Howard. Treasurer—Ezra Dillenbeck.

The old officers and directors then turned over the effects of the association to the new board and officers.

A number of insurance adjusters are conferring with the association in relation to adjusting the loss on the stock in the warehouse at the time of the fire.

HITZMANN TO BE TRIED TOMORROW

Center Marriage Case to Come Before Judge Phelps

Fred Hitzman, the Center man who is charged with marrying his fifteen year old niece, will be tried in Judge Phelps' court tomorrow morning. A jury was drawn this morning and the case will be taken up at 10 o'clock. The parties live in the town of Center.

Keep Your Eyes Open.

For the announcement we shall make in these columns about December 1st, of a new deal that will catch the public, as no real estate deal has ever done in this city. We shall give you an eye opener in earnest.

In the meantime don't lose a word of what we have to say on East River-view Park. There are only 40 lots up there for sale, in fact only 38, and there will be 100 people wishing before July 1, 1895 that they had one of them. It don't make much difference how little money you have you can have a lot, we will "carry you" easy pay. If you haven't any money we will rent you a lot and before long give it to you. Ask us how? Yours very truly, just as ever.

TALMAGE'S SERMON ON HIS LAST TRIP

In that departure to his home.

"There," said our escort, "Bob the Nailer did the work." "Who was Bob the Nailer?" "Oh, he was the African who sat at that point, and when any one of our men ventured across the road he would drop him by a rifle ball. Bob was a sure marksman. The only way to get across the road was from the well was to wait until his gun flashed and then instantly cross before he had time to load. The only way we could get rid of him was by digging a mine under the house where he was hidden. When the house was blown up Bob the Nailer went with it." I said to him, "Had you made up your minds what you and the other sufferers would do in case the fiends actually broke in?" "Oh, yes," said my escort, "we had it all planned, for the probability was every hour for nearly five months that they would break in. You must remember it was 1,600 against 60,000, and for the latter part of the time it was 990 against 60,000, and the Residency and the earthworks around it were not put up for such an attack. It was only from the mercy of God that we were not massacred soon after the besiegement. We were resolved not to allow ourselves to get into the hands of those desperadoes. You must remember that we and all the women had heard of the butchery at Cavnapore, and we knew what defeat meant. If unable to hold out any longer we would have blown ourselves up, and all gone out of life together."

"Show me," I said, "the rooms where the women and children staid during those awful months." Then we crossed over and went down into the cellar of the Residency. With a shudder of horror indescribable I entered the cellars where 622 women and children had been crowded until the whole floor was full. I knew the exact number, for I counted their names on the roll. As one of the ladies wrote in her diary—speaking of these women, she said: "They lay upon the floor fitting into each other like bits in a puzzle." Wives had obtained from their husbands the promise that the husbands would shoot them rather than let them fall into the hands of these desperadoes. The women within the Residency were kept on the smallest allowance that would maintain life. No opportunity of privacy. The death angel and the birth angel touched wings as they passed. Flies, mosquitoes, vermin in full possession of the place, and these women in momentary expectation that the enraged savages would rush upon them, in a violence of which club, and sword, and torch, and throat-cutting would be the milder forms.

Our escort told us again and again of the bravery of these women. They did not despair. They encouraged the soldiery. The waited on the wounded and dying in the hospital. They gave up their stockings for holders of grape shot. They sojourned each other when their children died. When a husband or father fell such prayers of sympathy were offered as only women can offer. They endured without complaint. They prepared their own children for burial. They were inspiration for the men who stood at their posts fighting till they dropped.

Our escort told us that again and again news had come that Havelock and Outram were on the way to fetch these besieged ones out of their wretchedness. They had received a letter from Havelock rolled up in a quill and carried in the mouth of a disguised messenger, a letter telling them he was on the way, but the next news was that Havelock had been compelled to retreat. It was constant vacillation between hope and despair. But one day they heard the guns of relief sounding nearer and nearer. Yet all the houses of Lucknow were fortresses filled with armed miscreants, and every step of Havelock and his army was contested—firing from house tops, firing from windows, firing from doorways.

"Show us where they came in!" I exclaimed, for I knew that they did not enter through the gate of the Residency, that being banked up inside to keep the murderers out. "Here it is," answered the escort, "Here it is—the embrasure through which they came."

We walked up to the spot. It is now a broken down pile of bricks a dozen yards from the gate. Long grass now, but then a blood-spattered, bullet-scarred opening in the wall.

As we stood there, although the scene was thirty-seven years ago, I saw them come in; Havelock, pale and sick, but triumphant; and Outram, whom all the equestrian statues in Calcutta and Europe can not too grandly present.

"What then happened?" I said to my escort. "Eh," he said, "that is impossible to tell. The earth was removed from the gate and soon all the army of relief entered, and some of us laughed, and some cried, and some prayed and some danced. Highlanders so dust-covered and enough blood and wounds on their faces to make them unrecognizable, snatched the babes out of their mothers' arms and kissed them, and passed the babies along for other soldiers to kiss, and the wounded men crawled out of the hospital to join in the cheering, and it was wild jubilee, until the first excitement passed, the story of how many of the advancing army had been slain on the way began to have fearful effect, and the story of suffering that had been endured inside the fort, and the announcement to children that they were fatherless, and to wives that they were widows, submerged the shouts of joy with wailing of agony."

"But were you not embarrassed by the arrival of Havelock and 1,400 men who brought no food with them?" He answered, "Of course, we were put on smaller rations immediately in order that they might share with us, but we knew that the coming of this reinforcement would help us to hold the place until further relief should come. Had not this first relief arrived as it did, in a day or two at most, and perhaps at any hour, the besiegers would have broken in, and our end would have come. The Sepoys had dug six mines under the Residency and would soon have exploded all."

TERRIBLE WEIGHT.

THAT BEARING DOWN FEELING.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)
The recovery of Lucetta Osborne Putnam of Forristdale, Mass., was really wonderful. She had been sick for years.

She was utterly prostrated, and seemed beyond a hope of cure.

Her spine, heart, liver, and brain were all seriously affected.

The weight of her body upon her feet would cause dizziness, faintness, and terrible pains in her back, and it was sometimes several hours before she could dress.

This woman's trouble was in her womb, effecting her whole constitution.

She was crushed with that indescribable feeling of bearing down, and suffered agonies that would appal a man.

She found new life in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

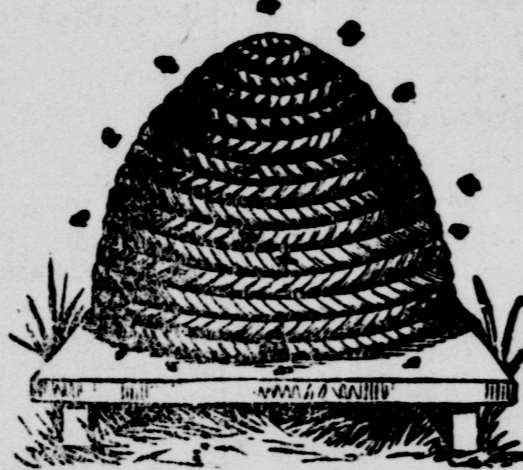

She says: "I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick so long I thought I never could get well."

"The suffocating, gasping attacks and awful bearing down feeling left me, my appetite returned, and my friends wondered at my improved looks. I believe Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure for the misery of our sex."

TALMAGE'S SERMON ON HIS LAST TRIP

As our train glided into the dimly lighted station, I asked the guard, "Is this Lucknow?" and he answered, "Lucknow," at the pronunciation of which proper name strong emotions rushed through body, mind and soul.

The word is a synonym of suffering, of cruelty, of heroism, of horror such as is suggested by hardly any other word. We have for thirty-five years been reading of the agonies there endured and the daring deeds there witnessed. It was my great desire to have some one who had witnessed the scenes transacted in Lucknow in 1857 conduct us over the place. We found just the man. He was a young soldier at the time the greatest mutiny of the ages broke out, and he was put with others inside the Residency, which was a cluster of buildings making a fortress in which the representatives of the English government lived, and which was to be the scene of an endurance and a bombardment the story of which, poetry, and painting, and history, and secular and sacred eloquence have been trying to depict. Our escort not only had a good memory of what had happened, but had talent enough to rehearse the tragedy.

In the early part of 1857 all over India the natives were ready to break out in rebellion against all foreigners, and especially against the civil and military representatives of the English government.

A half dozen causes are mentioned for the feeling of discontent and insurrection that was evidenced throughout India. The most of these causes were mere pretexts. Greased cartridges were no doubt an exasperation. The grease ordered by the English government to be used on these cartridges was taken from cows or pigs, and grease to the Hindoos is unclean, and to bite these cartridges at the loading of the guns would be an offense to the Hindoos' religion. The leaders of the Hindoos said that these greased cartridges were only part of an attempt by the English government to make the natives give up their religion; hence unbounded indignation was aroused.

Another cause of the mutiny was that another large province of India had been annexed to the British empire, and thousands of officials in the employ of the king of that province were thrown out of position, and they were all ready for trouble making.

Another cause was said to be the bad government exercised by some English officials in India.

The simple fact was that the natives of India are a conquered race, and the English were the conquerors. For 100 years the English sceptre had been waved over India, and the Indians wanted to break that sceptre. There never had been any love or sympathy between the natives of India and the Europeans; there is none now.

Before the time of the great mutiny the English government risked much power in the hands of the natives. Too many of them manned the forts. Too many of them were in governmental employ. And now the time had come for a wide outbreak. The natives had persuaded themselves that they could send the English government flying and to accomplish it dagger, and sword, and firearms, and mutilation, and slaughter must do their worst.

It was evident in Lucknow that the natives were about to rise and put to death all the Europeans they could lay their hands on, and into the Residency the Christian population of Lucknow hastened for defense from the tigers in human form which were growling for their victims. The occupants of the Residency or fort were military and non-combatants, men, women and children, in number about 1,692. I suggest in one sentence some of the chief woes to which they were subjected, when I say that these people were in the Residency five months without a single change of clothing, some of the time the heat at 120 and 130 degrees, the place black with flies and all a-squirm with vermin, firing of the enemy upon them ceasing neither day nor night, the hospital crowded with the dying, smallpox, scurvy, cholera adding their work to that of shot and shell;

"Wake me early," I said, "to-morrow morning, and let us be at the Residency before the sun becomes too hot." At 7 o'clock in the morning we left our hotel in Lucknow, and I said to our obliging, gentlemanly escort, "Please take us along the road by which Hawlock and Outram came to the relief of the Residency." That was the way we went. There was a solemn stillness as we approached the gate of the Residency. Battered and torn is the masonry of the entrance. Signature of shot, and punctuation of cannon ball, all up and down and everywhere. "Here to the left," said our escort, "are the remains of a building the first floor of which in other days had been used as a banquet hall, but then was used as a hospital. At this part the amputations took place, and all such patients died. The heat was so great and the food so insufficient that the poor fellows could not recover from the loss of blood; they all died. Amputations were performed without chloroform. All the anesthetics were exhausted. A fracture that in other climates and under their circumstances would have come to easy convalescence, here proved fatal. Yonder was Dr. Fayer's house, who was surgeon of the place, and is now Queen Victoria's doctor. This upper room was the officers' room, and here Sir Henry Lawrence, our dear commander, was wounded. While he sat there a shell struck the room, and some one suggested that he had better leave the room, but he smiled and said, 'Lightning never struck twice in the same place.' Hardly had he said this when another shell tore off his thigh, and he was carried dying into Dr. Fayer's house on the other side of the road. Sir Henry Lawrence had been in poor health for a long time before the mutiny. He had been in the Indian service for years and he had started for England to recover his health, but getting as far as Bombay, the English government requested him to remain at least for a while, for he could not be spared in such dangerous times. He came here to Lucknow, and foreseeing the siege of this Residency had filled many of the rooms with grain, without which the Residency would have been obliged to surrender. There were also taken by him into this Residency rice, and sugar, and charcoal, and fodder for the oxen and hay for the horses. But now, at the time when all the people were looking to him for wisdom and courage, Sir Henry is dying." Our escort describes the scene, unique, tender, beautiful and overpowering, and while I stood on the very spot where the sighs and groans of the besieged, and lacerated, and broken-hearted met the whizz of bullets and the demoniac hiss of bursting shell, and the roar of batteries, my escort gave me the particulars.

As soon as Sir Henry was told that he had not many hours to live he asked the chaplain to administer to him the holy communion. He felt particularly anxious for the safety of the women in the Residency who, at any moment, might be subjected to the savages who howled around the Residency, their breaking in only a matter of time, unless reinforcements should come. He would frequently say to those who surrounded his death couch, "Save the ladies. God held the poor women and children!" He gave directions for the desperate defense of the place. He asked forgiveness of all those whom he might unintentionally have neglected or offended. He left a message for all his friends. He forgot not to give direction for the care of his favorite horse. He charged the officers, saying, "By no means surrender. Make no treaty or compromise with the desperadoes. Die fighting." He took charge of the asylum he had established for the children of soldiers. He gave directions for his burial, saying, "No nonsense, no fuss. Let me be buried with the men." He dictated his own epitaph, which I read above his tomb: "Here lies Henry Lawrence, who tried to do his duty. May the Lord have mercy on his soul." He said, "I would like to have a passage of Scripture added to the words on my grave, such as: 'To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgivenesses, though we have rebelled against him'—isn't it from Daniel? So as brave a man as England or India ever saw, expired. The soldiers lifted the cover from his face and kissed him before they carried him out. The chaplain offered a prayer. Then they removed the great hero amid the rattling hail of the guns and put him down among other soldiers buried at the same time."

All of which I state for the benefit of those who would have us believe that the Christian religion is fit only for women in the eighties and children under seven. There was glory enough

EVERLASTING BEN BOLT.

Dr. English, Its Author, Festered Half to Death by its Omnipresence.

One sometimes gets too much of a good thing. Certainly Dr. Thomas Dunn English has got enough of "Ben Bolt," and people the world over know it to be a good thing. The author of this famous ballad is a member of congress from Essex county, New Jersey. He lives in Newark, but is often seen trudging along Broadway. Though well along in years he is as spry and his intellect is as keen as ever. Still he is pestered not a little by the fact that persons constantly allude to him as the author of "Ben Bolt." It's use in "Tribby" has made it more bothersome than ever to Dr. English.

Said he: "Why, I was assured by one member of the house that his wife had won him years ago by the pretty and pathetic manner in which she had sung 'Ben Bolt' to him. Another told me that, like Dr. Coan in the Sandwich islands, his mother had sung him to sleep with 'Ben Bolt,' and, to cap the climax, I was introduced to a lady who had been christened 'Alice Ben Bolt.'"

"Who was the lady, doctor?"

"She was the daughter of General Pickett of Confederate fame."

"Whenever I got into a mood of indignation at some legislation adverse to my views," he went on in his musical way, "and expressed my indignation in strong and perhaps emphatic terms, some of the members would clap me on the back and sing: 'Don't you remember sweet Alice Ben Bolt? Sweet Alice, whose hair was so brown.'"

"This would put me in a rage. 'Confound it! I have often said, 'I begin to wish that either 'Ben Bolt' or I had never been born.'"

Electric Sunstrokes.

It is now claimed that there is such a thing as electric sunstroke. The workers around electrical furnaces in which metal aluminum is produced suffer from them. The intense light causes painful conjestions, which cannot be wholly prevented by wearing deep-colored glasses.

It's like comparing "A Candle to the brilliancy of the Sun" to compare other Soaps with SANTA CLAUS. Because it's the purest, best and most Economical.
